Every Commercial Organisation has a Marketing Discipline in one form or another. Whether you have a Structured Proactive Marketing Function or just a "Man with a Van" Approach, you are Marketing. The World of Digital Marketing is constantly and quickly evolving. What is Hot and Effective today, is tomorrow's Old News. If you're noticing that your Digital Marketing Efforts aren't generating quite the Impact they once did, it might be Time for a Marketing Strategy Reboot.... Whether your Company is a Startup that has experienced some Success or an Established Company, one Thing is nearly certain: at some point your Business is likely to hit a Plateau.

One of the latest Changes rocking the Business World is Web-Enabled Disintermediation. As more Customers shop Online, standard Wholesale/Retail Relationships of the past are being replaced by Direct-To-Consumer Business Models. These Changes are causing many Companies to rethink their B2B Strategies, skipping the Middleman in the Process. Another Reason many Companies hit a Plateau is the Lack of Ability to accommodate Growth. Lack of Capital is another common Catastrophe for most Companies in Growth Mode. Business is poised to dive into an Immersive Digital Future, powered by a Convergence of Innovative Technologies (the Cloud, Mobile, Robotics, and Artificial Intelligence (AI), among others) that will require Finance Executives to rethink every Aspect of their Businesses.

Achieving Transformation requires the Imposition of a Collective Mindset that emphasizes Collaboration and Communication. Depending on the Company, the Finance leader will have to identify a Structure that best aligns Business Goals with Digital Strategy. Centralization? Decentralization? Hub & Spoke? The Shape of the Organization to come must be rewired to bypass Traditional Silos and unite the Organization in a Shared Commitment to Risk, Innovation, and Investigation.
